BMW Kent is quite a broad search term. The search engines are not certain as to what the user is actually looking for. It could be Kent BMW dealers, or actually a garage that can carry out a BMW service or MOT. The user may even be looking for someone that sells parts and accessories specific to this manufacturer or even clothing or key rings from the personal collection. If you do enter this phrase on line then it is advisable to tell the computer exactly what it is you want rather than making it guess and providing you with non-relevant results.
